

Faculty: Journal Activity

The Journal activity has made a comeback! This activity allows students to continue to add to an online text assignment over time. Points are recorded just once, but instructor feedback can be entered as often as you like in response to student reflections.

When students open the link, they can enter their response.

The screenshot shows the 'Week One Journal' form in edit mode. The title is 'Week One Journal' and the question is 'How is your internship going?'. The form is labeled 'Entry' and has a red exclamation mark icon. A rich text editor toolbar is visible with options like Paragraph, Bold, Italic, and Bulleted List. The text area contains the entry: 'I'm already learning a lot in my internship, even though it just started.....'. Below the text area, there is a 'Path: p > span' indicator and two buttons: 'Save changes' (highlighted with a red box) and 'Cancel'. At the bottom, a message states: 'There are required fields in this form marked !'.

Student view after saving:

There is a button labeled 'Start or edit my journal entry'. Below the button, the text area contains the entry: 'I'm already learning a lot in my internship, even though it just started.....'. At the bottom, it says 'Last edited: Tuesday, November 7, 2017, 3:04 PM (13 words)'.

On the instructor side, this is how you access student journal submissions:

There is a button labeled 'Start or edit my journal entry' and a message: 'You have not started this journal yet'. A red oval highlights a button labeled 'View 1 journal entries'.

Once you view submissions, you can assign grades and provide feedback:
