

Faculty: Pin a Forum Post

Hart Wilson - 2023-11-08 - Comments (0) - Faculty

Wouldn't it be handy to be able to keep a forum thread at the top of a bunch of responses? Now we can!

Here's an example—let's say you have a course Q&A forum and a student asks a question early on that you know students often ask. By "pinning" the post, you can make it stick to the top of the list of responses—and with luck, other students will see it there before posting the same question again two or three weeks later.

This is how the forum looks at first, with Student One's most frequently asked question languishing at the bottom of the list:

 Course Q&A

Please post any general questions you have about the course to this forum. Use the Add a new discussion link to post your question.

4 discussions

Add a new discussion

Student4 Four

Another Question

1 min ago

Student3 Three

A Different Question

2 mins ago

Student1 One

My First Question

3 mins ago

How it Works

To move Student One's frequently asked question to the top of the list and make it stick, open the post and click on Pin to attach it to the top of the forum:

« Course Q&A

Student1 One

My First Question

15 mins ago

I am confused about what we are supposed to do for our term project. When is it due?

Reply Edit Delete Pin

After you pin the post, you can reply (if you haven't already) or read another post, return to the forum or return to your main course page. Note that you can Unpin a post that has been pinned, if you want to.

« Course Q&A

Student1 One

 My First Question

24 mins ago

I am confused about what we are supposed to do for our term project. When is it due?

Reply Edit Delete Unpin

How it Looks

Now that you've pinned it, the post—and any replies made to it—will remain at the top of the forum as long as you like. The pushpin icon is visible to all users.

Student1 One

 My First Question

21 mins ago

Student4 Four

Another Question

18 mins ago

Student3 Three

A Different Question

19 mins ago

